The Office of National Marine Sanctuaries serves as the trustee for a network of underwater parks encompassing more than 620,000 square miles of marine and Great Lakes waters. Within these protected waters, majestic whales feed and migrate, coral reefs flourish, and shipwrecks reveal secrets of our maritime history. And it's YOURS to enjoy, because the vast majority of national marine sanctuary waters are open to recreational fishing, birding, wildlife watching, diving, surfing, kayaking, and many more activities that are compatible with conservation goals.

Few ocean regions in the world host the diversity and abundance of marine life found in Greater Farallones National Marine Sanctuary.

The weekend of August 2-4 marks our fifth national "Get into Your Sanctuary" celebration, when sites across the system will be hosting concurrent public events to help you personally experience, enjoy, and protect these special places.
